CALL FOR MIXED MEDIA

The Ford Program in Human Development Studies and Solidarity and the Kellogg Institute for International Studies, part of the Keough School of Global Affairs at the University of Notre Dame, announce the 14th annual Human Development Conference.

For fourteen years, the Human Development Conference has provided a forum for undergraduate students from a wide range of backgrounds and disciplines who are passionate about development to engage in dialogue about development research.

The 2022 Human Development Conference, themed Our Global Responsibility: Seeking Inclusive Growth Amidst Widening Inequality, will encourage participants to consider how inclusive, person-centered approaches to human development might help understand, address, and combat the rapidly growing inequities that exist within our world. Building off of last year's conference theme, The Future is Now: Innovative Responses to Global Adversity, the 2022 conference seeks to shed light on the continued need for interdisciplinary innovation grounded in inclusivity and our responsibility as global citizens to collaborate with the communities most directly affected by the issues we seek to address during these times of widespread disparity.

Undergraduate students interested in sharing art projects of mixed media: click here to apply. The final submission deadline is Friday, January 14th, 2022, at 11:59 PM. These projects include but are not limited to: paintings, videos, collages, drawings, photos, sculpture, ceramics, etc.

Mixed Media Requirements: To have a piece considered at the 2022 HDC, you may submit up to 2 pieces total. Media can include photos, videos, paintings, drawings, ceramics, culture, posters, collages, or another form of media. For each piece please include:

- Title
- Location of media
- Approximate date of media
- A paragraph-long description of the work. We want to hear about the people, the place, and how creating the piece of media affected your understanding of human development.

Please keep the following considerations in mind when submitting media:

- All submissions MUST have been created by the individual submitting the piece.
- Whether the people in the photo or video would want to see their likeness displayed as it is in the piece of media. Photos or videos of children or individuals who were not able to consent to have their photo taken should not be submitted.
- Consider media carefully and ensure that you do not submit a piece of media that might negatively impact a person's safety or reputation.
